Bilateral Meetings

- Friday 12:00 - 15:00

Description

Our goal is to produce a next level beacon technology that can be used in various industries and markets. While working with various implementations we saw a lot of disadvantages with the current systems and hardware as well as huge potential for new improvements and use cases. Transforming how retailers, event organizers, transit systems, enterprises, and educational institutions communicate with people indoors to consumers that might want to deploy them as part of home automation systems.
